DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ohnishi (5,537,966).

Ohnishi discloses a recoil starter, comprising a rotary driving member (24) that is adapted to be rotated by pulling a recoil rope (18), an interlocking rotary member (36) that is adapted to be rotated independently of the rotary driving member (24), and a buffering spring (32) coupled between the rotary driving member (20) and the interlocking rotary member (32), applying a rotational bias between the rotary driving member (24) and the interlocking rotary member (36), and adapted to transmit the rotation of the rotary driving member (24) to the interlocking rotary member (36), see figures 1-11.

With regard to claim 2, the rotary driving member and the interlocking rotary member are disposed on a common rotational axis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ohnishi (5,537,966).

Ohnishi discloses all the limitations as applied to claims 1-4 above except the rotary driving member (24) is a rope reel.

At the time the invention was made; it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to a person of ordinary skill in the art to make the rotary drive member (24) a rope reel because applicant has not disclosed that such arrangement provides an advantage, is used for a particular purpose, or solves a stated problem. One of ordinary skill in the art, further, would have expected applicant's invention to perform equally well with a driving wheel as disclosed by Ohnishi because such arrangement performs equally effectively.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 6 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited references show recoil starters.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
